

The EMOJIONE package

Benjamin Weiss
weissbenjamin@me.com

Version 1.0.1 from 2018/07/27

1 Introduction

Emoji One is a complete open source emoji set. This package makes it easily accessible in \LaTeX .

2 How to use it

There are two ways to use this package. Either you use the unicode characters directly in your document or you use the predefined macros. The macroname consist of the prefix emoji and the symbolname. In some cases the names slightly differ from the official shortname of emoji, because digits are converted into words and underscores are stripped.

The following lists every symbol available and its name used in the package.

`\emoji_define:nnnn` Depending on which engine is used we have to either use `\DeclareUnicodeCharacter` (pdf \TeX) or `\newunicodechar` (X \LaTeX and Lua \TeX) to define new unicode characters. Additionally to defining new characters for every symbol a new macro is created. For a symbol named `link` the macro is called `\emojilink`.
